

PIN

PIMP. n. f. [pinge, Fr. Skinner.] One who provides gratifications for the lust of others; a procurer; a pander.

I'm courted by all
As principal pimp to the mighty king Harry. Addison
Lords keep a pimp to bring a wench;
So men of wit are but a kind
Of panders to a vicious mind;
Who proper objects must provide
To gratify their lust of pride. Swift

To PIMP. v. a. [from the noun.] To provide gratifications for the lust of others; to pander; to procure.
But he's posset with a thousand imps,
To work whole ends his madness pimps. Swift
Yet bards like these aspir'd to lasting praise,
And proudly hop'd to pimp in future days. Anonymous

PIMPANEL. n. f. [pimpernelle, Latin; pimpernelle, French.] A plant.

The flower of the pimpernel consists of one leaf shaped like a wheel and cut into several segments; the pointal, which rises out of the empalement, is fixed like a nail in the middle of the flower, and afterwards becomes a roundish fruit, which, when ripe, opens transversely into two parts, one incumbent on the other, inclosing many angular seeds, which adhere to the placenta. Miller
